Who Are We?

Women in the Enterprise of Science & Technology (WEST) is a learning community that provides women in STEM related careers with the inspiration, knowledge, and connections to reach their full potential. WEST has over 500 members and reaches over 5,000 individuals in the STEM community. As a non-profit dedicated to supporting women advancing within the science and technology environment, we rely on collaboration and active sponsorship from industry, individuals, and related organizations, who share in that common vision. WEST events are attended by decision-makers from the life science and technology industries as well as individuals in the pursuit of career progression within STEM.

Why Support Us?

WEST sponsorship provides an excellent platform to enable and make actionable, an organization's goals to enhance support for women in the pursuit of careers in STEM. Specifically, the programs are designed to expand women's access to mentors, professional networking, and education within the relevance of STEM. Our organization recognizes the need for women to have equity in the workplace and welcomes guests, members, friends and allies from all backgrounds. As a residual impact, organizations that sponsor also have a wonderful opportunity to expand their visibility within the community through positive branding and recognition as a progressive employer who supports women in STEM.
